LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Hayes Policy. EDITORS APPEAL—A republic with but me party would soon become a despotism, aless we could always have a Washington. our readers must thank you for your answer glittering generalities" of my friend, Judge Foute—an answer amply vindicating the political convictions of the Democratic party. Judge Foute seems to think Democracy now consists in supporting Hayes's policy. In Radical days "loyalty" consisted in supporting Grant and Brownlow. What "policy" has Hayes inaugurated as new to Democrats? Is it the policy of letting the Democratic party for ten years? Did Hayes people to engage in a nobler work, to assist in a grander cause?" Re-ally, one would think, on reading this rhapsody, that, since 1868, the people of the southern States had been constantly engaged in making war upon the Federal government; that they did not wish for peace, and did not intend to have it; and that Hayes's southern The Memphis law class held its lecture that Mr. Hayes's visit and speeches have not g last night, the attendance being made one southerner a peace man who was takes place this sea not so before. No Democrat of the south fourth instant, at questions Hayes's motives or honest intentions; but the simple truth is, he has done but one thing since he has been President, the members of the class. The next lecture | and that was removing bayonets from legislatures in the south. That he did in weeks, and southern hearts thanked him. They indorsed that act then as they indorse it now; and had he never come south, that one act would have been kindly remembered all the days of our lives. But it is becoming more and more evident every day that Hayes's peace speeches are more needed at the north than here. We have no Republicans of any influence in the south; and Democrats all want peace. But Hayes's party do not; and there is another singular oversight of my friend Judge Foute. He seems to think that the APPEAL and those RADFORD, STRATTON & Co. have removed who think with it are the only cosmology of the way of a universal Hayes jubilee. The opponents of Hayes and his southern policy opponents of Hayes and his southern policy. are not in the south. They are at the north, among Hayes's own party. Christ would have done a poor business had he spent his days | KREMER, HERZOG & CO.'S., exhorting good men only to repentance. He judged human nature better, and spent his ime in preaching to sinners. Let Mr. Hayes spend more of his time in exhorting the sin-ners of his own party to repentance and peace, and his success there will secure peace to all. In conclusion, I commend to my friend Foute the speech of M'Mahon, of Ohio, latey delivered at a great Democratic gather-ng. It puts Hayes and his Republican s in the right place, and shows the great importance of reproving, in positive and em-phatic terms, the greatest political fraud ever perpetrated in this government. Had Hayes proven himself to be a politician of the Grant Mrs. Mag. The third was a political nondescript, principally remarkable heretofore for successfully concealing which side he was on, and for reso-lutely refusing, in the dark days of the past, to contribute one cent to shake off Radical rule.

Called by this distinguished quintette, the Independent convention met. Its delegates consisted three-fourths of ignorant negroes of the most extreme Radical type, and one-fourth of Bourbon white-line Democrats. The five men who had called it dictated every step that was taken, and they were all promptly nominated for the best offices to be filled. Of eight nominations to be made, five lence of performance, was such as to interest and satisfy the audience. The Kentucky Rose was so well rendered by Mr. Courtright as to call forth an encore. THE SMITH SUICIDE. Particulars of the Sad Affair-Found Swinging to a Joist in the House - Insanity the Cause.

The APPEAL has already stated the fact that Mrs. Nancy Smith, aged forty, commit-ted suicide Wednesday, at her house in the thirteenth civil dirtrict. The unfortunate woman was the wife of a tenant living in a woman was the wife of a tenant fiving in a log cabin on F. C. Stephenson's plantation, near the Horn Lake road. About twelve o'clock Wednesday, Mrs. Smith being unwell, sent her oldest daughter, aged fifteen, to Mr. Stephenson's for medicine. When the girl returned she found her mother hanging by a strip of cloth from the joist. She screamed, and Mr. Smith, who, with his other daughter, and son aged eight and twelve daughter and son, aged eight and twelve, were picking cotton in the field near by, has-tened to the house, as did several other hands Mrs. Smith was already dead, for she had made sure of her fall. Near her hanging body was a chair on which she had mounted and then tied the fatal noose. Justice Hoegle being summoned, impaneled a jury and held an inquest, the verdict being in accord-tion of the case it was shown that Mrs. Smith had been partially insane for some time, and this is doubtless the cause of the suicide. County-Undertaker John Walsh buried the body, as her husband is in indibonds given by the county to the Memphis and Paducah railroad. Court adjourned yesterday afternoon.

Adventurers Make a Search and Rurn Captured-History of his Crime a Saw-Mill-History of the Mys-

About half-past two o'clock Sunday morn ing Cochran's saw-mill, on Wolf river, was burned. As we have already stated, the fire was the work of an incendiary, but so far the perpetrator of the deed has not been detected.
Twenty-six years ago, or even farther back, there existed an organized band of daring robbers and thieves whose exploits formed the subject of many a romance and thrilling story. These robbers committed crime from Memphis to New Orleans; arson, and even murder, characterizing their work when booty could be obtained. Mr. Miller, a well-known banker at Somerville, was murdered one night by a gang of these robbers, who stole from the safe a considerable amount of specie and valuables. The plan was not only well conceived, but successfully Mr. Miller while asleep in bed. About the river and buried on the banks of the Cumberland, near Canton Trigg county, Kentucky. At least, this is the supposition, as about a year or so later, a mysterious hole was dug there by unknown per-sons, and evidences of deposited treasure being removed were plain. The organization was broken up, but as yet those who were left were afraid to make use of the lance of the authorities, a man and two women dug the treasure up and buried it on this side of Wolf river, where Cochran's mill was located. Eight years ago a number of persons began to dig around the furnace and water-tank in search of this treasure, The engineer, Martin Ryan, knew the object of engineer, Martin Ryan, knew the object of their digging, which became so general as to alarm Mr. Cochran, who feared the mill would be undermined. Ryan, who is now in Louisiana, at Lake Providence, we believe, frankly told Mr. Cochran all about the affair, which was soon abandoned. About a month ago a man named Williams, from Chicago, came to Memphis and asked about a certain tree which steed in the locality. He exhibited tree which stood in the locality. He exhibited an accurate plat of the ground on which the mill and the navy-yard is located, and the place where this treasure is said to be buried. Williams was allowed to fell the tree, but this did not lead to any satisfactory discovery in so far as any one is informed. Last Friday night some person set fire to the mill, but the watchman being on the alert, discovered it in time to suppress the flames before any damage could be done. The next night the incendiary accomplished his purpose and the mill was soon a wreck. It is believed that the incendiary fired this mill so as to re-move all impediments to future digging there. Goldpink, the robber who helped to bury the treasure, made a confession just before he died in prison, where he was serving out the sentence of the law. The facts, as alleged, have been known to the police for Fransaction of Routine Business-The Wolf River Bridges-The Louisville Company's Proposition Rejected.

The county court met yesterday, but occupied the day in the transaction of routine business. Justices Dickerson, Hunter, Hammondtree, Crockett, Quigley, Winters, Pryor, Coleman, Pulliam, Shelby, Wellborn, Harrell, Otis, Hoegel, Elliott, Egnew, Jones and Elam were present. D. O'Donnell, as engineer of the courthouse, John Dobbins, as engineer of the jail, John Clansey, as painter, and Michael M'Bride, as watchman of the courthouse, WOLF RIVER BRIDGE The commissioners and superindent made a report relative to the proposition to build a bridge over Wolf river at the Grehan ferry. The superintendent and commissioners say: proposition of the Louisville company for the iron bridge bid. If the said company will modify its terms of payment, and give to the county the necessary guarantees, we would most earnestly recommend to the court its acceptance of their proposition. In conclusion, we respectfully refer the whole matter to your assembled wisdom, and will carefully abide your action."

The recommendation of the committee wa rejected by a vote of 11 to 8. THE RALEIGH BRIDGE. J. M. Coleman, V. W. Williams and R. M. Mason, the committee appointed to confer with W. J. Smith, superintendent of the Wolf river pike company, as to the propriety of the county purchasing the franchises of said company, made their report. The commit-tee is of the opinion that the best interest of the county requires that the bridge levee, franchises, etc., of the company be purchased, and that action be taken at the present term of the court for the repairs or erection of a bridge, and that $1250 would be a reasonable price to be paid by the court to the company

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup. for the cure of consumption, coughs and colds. The great virtue of this medicine is that it ripens the matter and throws it out of the system, purifies the blood and thus effects a cure. Schenck's sea weed tonic, for the cure of dyspepsia, indigestion, etc.: The tonic produces a healthy action of the stomach, creating an apetite, forming chyle, and curing the most obstinate cases of indigestion. Schenck's Mandrake pills, for the cure of liver complaint, etc.: These pills are alterative, and produce a healthy action of the liver without the least danger, as they are free from calomel, and yet more effica-cious in restoring a healthy action of the liver. These remedies are a certain cure for consumption, as the pulmonic syrup ripens the matter and purifies the blood. The Mandrake pills act upon the liver, create a healthy often a cause of consumption. The sea weed tonic gives tone and strength to the stomach, that the expression of that will was suppressed or distorted through frauds; that Democrats desired to inquire into those frauds, and Republicans refused; and that, by this refusal, Hayes, whom the people never elected, was declared President. We can afford to applaud Hayes for doing justice to the south. The country cannot afford to approve the mode by which he became President.

THE FUGITIVE WEST Is Pursued through Mississippi and

and how he Managed to Escape. In Sunday's APPEAL was published the fact that Marshal W. B. Haskins, of Osceola, Arkansas, had arrested and brought to this city a man named Bill West. The history of the manner in which West escaped and his capture cannot fail to interest our reader For some time there had been a well-organized band of horse-thickes operating in the vicinity of Frenchman's bayou and the ad-joining country. West, who was believed to have some connection with this systematic thieving, was arrested in Green county, Arkansas, being caught on a stolen mule. Be-lieving that he would escape punishment by turning State's witness, West made a confession, in which he implicated two men named Black and Hereford. West was required to give bail in the sum of one thousand dollars and the others two thousand each. Failing to give this bail, West was put in charge of a guard and started to jail. While near Frenchman's bayou West managed to jerk a gun from one of his guards and made good his escape. A description of the fugitive being sent abroad, caused the arrest of twelve or thirteen men in different parts of Arkansas and Mississippi. Marshal Haskins went from one place to another, and last week visited Vicksburg, where a man supposed to be West was held in custody to await identifica-tion. Marshal Haskins had this man released, and then proceeded to Guntown, Lee county, Mississippi, where he learned that a person answering West's description was at work on a cotton plantation. With the assistance of a deputy sheriff he soon found and arrested West. The accused told the deputy-sheriff all about the horse-stealing, and said that he, being a witness against Black and Here-ford, had been paid two hundred dollars to leave Arkansas. He was surprised when arrested, but was unable to escape. Marsha Haskins carried West to Arkansas Sunday, whence he had fled last August.
